School Board Makes Arrangements for Increased Attendance at High School.

At the regular monthly meeting of the town school committee held Wednesday evening important business was transacted.

The matter of taking care of the increased attendance this fall at the high school was considered. It was deemed advisable that the entire school should be kept together in the present building and that the quarters should not be engaged in it is possible to get along without them.

It was reported that the assembly room could be rearranged so as to accommodate more pupils and that temporary recitation rooms could be fitted up in the corridors on the second floor.

It was then voted that the special committee on high school accommodations be requested and empowered to make such changes in the seating arrangements and recitation room facilities at the high school as may be required for the accommodation of the pupils in the present building and that the supplies committee be empowered to purchase the necessary number of desks, seats, etc., as may be necessary.

Dr. W. P. S. Keating, a member of the committee, was appointed a committee of one to thoroughly disinfect all the school buildings in charge of the town before the opening of the school term.

James F. Twomey acted as chairman in the absence of Dr. Guild.

Dannybrook's Owner Has a Grouch.

Louis N. Dondoro, who owns the fast racing stallion Dannybrook, is not in a happy frame of mind, even if he got a bit of the money in the 2 1/2 class Wednesday at Woonsocket. The judges held up his entry until $76 in back entry fees were collected. It seems the former owner of Dannybrook neglected to pay such a bill at a meet held in Lexington, Ky., in 1904, and it seems some party or parties put the racing association wise to the fact. Who they were Dondoro is not quite sure of, but he has a suspicion who it is, and if he finds out there may be something doing. Dannybrook finished fourth in the first heat, fifth in the second and second in the third. Asa Wilkes, driver Henry Hall's horse of South Willington, won the race in straight heats.

Borough Clerks Defeated Moosup Clerks' Nine, 19-13—Guests at Drawbridge Yesterday.

Scripture was read by Rev. C. H. Smith of Baltic; prayer was offered by Rev. F. C. Baker of Fairhaven, Mass. The audience joined in a song. After several more songs were sung Bishop Goodsell, who was the speaker of the evening arrived, somewhat late. Bishop Goodsell gave an instructive talk on his trip to China, his description of Chinese food being particularly humorous.

There was no country in the world, he said, where the people have such a belief in spirits as China. What is to us forward is backward to them. They are backward in the most peaceful people in the world. The Chinaman loves his family and loves children. This is due in no little part to their doctrine of ancestral worship.

5,000 Pounds of Butter Monthly. The Brooklyn creamery is turning out about 5,000 pounds of butter each month. The demand is always equal to the supply. This record is considered extra good considering the weather conditions, being so daring as to pasture during the past two months.

EXCHANGED WITH SCARECROW.

George Willey Discarded Prison Clothes After Running Away.

George Willey, a prisoner at the Brooklyn jail, who escaped from Keeper Harris at Abington Wednesday afternoon, Willey was one of a gang of prisoners that had been in the city for some time to help build fences. Willey was allowed to go to the barn, a considerable distance from where the man was working and failed to return. He did not get a start of over ten minutes before his escape was discovered and the search for him commenced. He could not be located.

Willey must be a good cross-country man, for at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon he made his way over to the John Weaver farm, near the Oxbow on the Quinebaug river, about two miles from Danielson. He was seen and talked with by Frank Moore of Danielson, who was up the river in his canoe. When Mr. Moore first saw him, Willey was exchanging clothes with a scarecrow. Willey told Mr. Moore, who surmised that the man was an escaped prisoner, that he had been sent to the jail above and that he had hidden in a swamp while the men who were searching for him were clipping in the vicinity in the hope of locating him. Willey has not been recaptured.

The man was doing a sentence of 30 days, imposed on him in the town court of Juddville for a minor offence and had served nine days of his term of imprisonment.

MRS. DARLING'S SISTER.

Injured in Overturning of Coach at Center Harbor.

Mrs. I. L. Blanchard of Dayville, who was reported in the press despatches Wednesday morning as injured at Center Harbor, N. H., by the overturning of a stage coach, is a twin sister of Mrs. A. E. Darling.

Mrs. Blanchard was formerly of Providence when, after a quarrel with her husband, she came to Dayville to make her home.

The story of the accident as received in Dayville, where the coach was the same as told in The Bulletin of Thursday. Mrs. Blanchard was one of a coaching party that was made up for the day before she had intended to return to her home in this town. The coach was being driven down a steep hill with Mrs. Everett Mayberry, wife of the owner of the coach, at the reins, when the coach broke, allowing the vehicle to strike the horses. The horses became frightened and began a wild race down the hill. Mrs. Mayberry was guiding them successfully along the tortuous and dangerous route, when one of the male members of the party reached for the reins with the result of swerving the horses from their course and the coach swung to the side of the road and overturned.

Mrs. Blanchard sustained a fractured wrist and probably internal injuries, though how serious had not been determined Thursday.

Mrs. Blanchard is now at the home of Mrs. Roy Spaulding, formerly Miss Little Darling, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Darling, who lived at Center Harbor, from the location of the accident.

$1,500 CHECK MISSING. Filed by Middletown Contractors in 1904—May Be in Road Commissioner's Office.

The selectmen of the town of Brooklyn are engaged in an endeavor to unravel the puzzle of locating what has become of a certified check for $1,500 that was filed by A. Brazier & Sons of Middletown as a bid bond for doing road construction back in 1904.

The Brazier firm did not get the contract; but their check to guarantee their bid has never been returned to them.

The circumstances surrounding the disappearance of the check are somewhat peculiar, but in all probability it is due to some error in the accounting system at the office of the highway commissioner in Hartford.

The check was forwarded to that office and there trace of it has been lost. The selectmen over in Brooklyn supposed the check had been returned to its rightful owners until they recently received inquiries from the contracting firm in regard to the matter. In addition to the check the firm is demanding interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum. The selectmen now in office were not the ones that were serving the town when the transaction involving the filing of the check transpired five years ago. Therefore, the matter of getting at all the facts in the case is not the easiest in the world.

Selectmen Albert Webb and Fred Card have been in Hartford this week, investigating the matter. They believe that the check will be located in the office of the highway commissioner, where it has probably been misplaced. The selectmen have also had a talk with the contractors, who are taking a reasonable attitude in the adjustment of the matter.

May Be Gold in Ledges.

There may be fortunes in gold up in the licate ledge along that stretch of the Quinebaug river where the Danielson Cotton company is blasting out stone for their new dam and power-house foundations.

Courland Green of North street was looking over the ledges the other day and from the mass of chipped rocks picked up a specimen of quartz and Mary looks very much like a gold bearing specimen. It is a beautiful specimen, and has aroused some interest among those that have seen it.

The ledge from which it is taken is among the most precipitous cliffs in eastern Connecticut and the formation of the rock in that vicinity has been of interest for years. Indian legends are connected with the picturesque spot where power is being developed. The ledge is being used to tear down great blocks of stone for the construction work under way and perhaps to reveal the deposits of precious metal it has held for ages. The specimen secured has not been passed upon by an expert, so it is still a little early to stake out any claims on the property.
